The firm of Sanders Bros. has been dissolved by mutual consent, Trigg Sanders retiring and Guy continuing the business. They have been in business together for several years, but having come into possession of some valuable farm property, it was found best for one to look after that. They are men who always make good in their undertakings, and have the best wishes of their many friends.

Candidate Cards.

Candidate cards printed at the Herald office bring results, because everybody knows the Herald print. There is something distinctive about the Herald's printing that appeals to the public—it is neat and clear, the press-work is good, only the best inks are used, and the forms are tasty and artistic. Don't overlook the Herald when you are in the market for any kind of printing.
